Data Science graduate with a strong background in data pipeline architecture, predictive modeling, and business intelligence, supported by hands-on experience across government institutions and state-owned enterprises. Experienced in managing scalable data infrastructure and transforming complex datasets into actionable insights through ETL processes, big data processing, forecasting, and dashboard development. Skilled in Python, SQL, Apache Spark, PostgreSQL, Docker, and Linux, along with Bash, Google Cloud, and Grafana to support operational and strategic decision-making. Also equipped with a solid foundation in Machine Learning Operations (MLOps) and cloud deployments, enabling a strong understanding of system reliability, data governance, and enterprise-level data management. Known for being analytical, detail-oriented, adaptable, and comfortable working in collaborative and fast-paced environments.
